

Contents

	Citation Information	vii
	Notes on Contributors	ix
	Introduction: Who wanted the TDFR? The making and the breaking of the Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic Adrian Brisku and Timothy K. Blauvelt	1
1	Between empire and independence: Armenia and the Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic Mikayel Zolyan	9
2	Azerbaijan and the Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic: historical reality and possibility Georges Mamoulia	21
3	The Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic (TDFR) as a "Georgian" responsibility Adrian Brisku	31
4	Pragmatism and expediency: Ottoman calculations and the establishment of the Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic Stefano Taglia	45
5	The German perspective on the Transcaucasian Federation and the influence of the Committee for Georgia's Independence Lasha Bakradze	59
6	Feeble projects and aspirations: the Caucasian and Transcaucasian federation/confederation in the geopolitics of 1918–1920 Beka Kobakhidze	69
7	Ideology meets practice in the struggle for the Transcaucasus: Stepan Shaumyan and the evolution of Bolshevik nationality policy Timothy K. Blauvelt	81

Chapter 5

The German perspective on the Transcaucasian Federation and the influence of the Committee for Georgia's Independence

Lasha Bakradze

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 59–68

Chapter 6

Feeble projects and aspirations: the Caucasian and Transcaucasian federation/confederation in the geopolitics of 1918–1920

Beka Kobakhidze

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 69–80

Chapter 7

Ideology meets practice in the struggle for the Transcaucasus: Stepan Shaumyan and the evolution of Bolshevik nationality policy

Timothy K. Blauvelt

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 81–92

Chapter 8

Ukraine and the Transcaucasus in 1917–1918: parallels, interactions, influences

Timothy K. Blauvelt and Stanislav Tumis

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 93–105

Chapter 9

Turning towards unity: a North Caucasian perspective on the Transcaucasian Democratic Federative Republic

Sarah Slye

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 106–123

Afterword

Afterword

Adrian Brisku

Caucasus Survey, volume 8, issue 1 (March 2020) pp. 124–125

For any permission-related enquiries please visit:

<http://www.tandfonline.com/page/help/permissions>