

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
About the editor and contributors	xi
Introduction	xix
Prologue
1. The meaning of "truth" and the truth about "meaning" in psychoanalysis Brett H. Clarke	3
Part I: Developmental realm
2. Children and truth Mali Mann	27
3. The search for truth in adolescent rebellion Ann Smolen	41
4. Truth in later life Thomas Wolman	53

Part II: Cultural realm

5. "Nothing is truer than truth" and Shakespeare 69
Richard M. Waugaman
6. Explorations into truth, anxiety, and death by Heidegger and Freud 83
Michael Shoshani, Batya Shoshani, and Naama Shoshani-Breda
7. Finding the truth in individual and large-group psychology 113
Vamik D. Volkan

Part III: Clinical realm

8. Narrative truth and theoretical truth 129
Donald P. Spence
9. What is true and whose idea was it? 145
Thomas H. Ogden
10. Truth heals, if one can tolerate it 161
Cobi Avshalom and Gila Ofer
11. Seven types of truth and their clinical relevance 173
Salman Akhtar

Epilogue

12. Truly, what does all this mean? 197
Louis Rothschild
- References 209
- Index 231