

Contents

Prelude: James Parr and Contemporary Golden Age Scholarship	7
Part I. Genre Study and the Comedia
Another Look at Calderón's El príncipe constante as Tragedy	17
MATTHEW D. STROUD
Ockham's Razor: Parr's Theory of Genre and Noncanonical Drama	31
SHARON D. VOROS
Suicide and the Ethics of Refusal	44
BRUCE R. BURNINGHAM
Part II. Narratology, Postmodernism, and Don Quixote
Reading Matters: Quixotic Fiction and Subversive Discourse in Paul Auster's The Book of Illusions	57
EDUARDO URBINA
Subversive Paratexts: Don Quixote, Lost in La Mancha (2002), and Looking for Richard (1996)	67
BARBARA SIMERKA and CHRISTOPHER WEIMER
Part III. Comparative and Interdisciplinary Studies
The Ghost of Helen in Doctor Faustus and Don Quixote	85
FREDERICK A. DE ARMAS
The Classical Legend of Progne and Filomena in Spanish Golden Age Theater	102
JAMES AGUSTÍN CASTAÑEDA
A Glove by Any Other Name: A Fetish in Lope de Vega's El guante de doña Blanca	110
CHARLES VICTOR GANELIN

Part IV. Breaking New Ground: Emerging Theoretical Trends
James Parr's Theory of Mind HOWARD MANCING	125
Staging Ghosts in the Comedia : The Shadow of Don Alonso LAURA VIDLKR	144
Cervantes and Slavery: An Overview Luis ANDRÉS MURILLO	158
The Virtual Don Quixote : Cide Hamete Benengeli's Manuscript and Aljamiado Literature CARROLL B. JOHNSON	172
The Culture of the Comedia : The Interplay of Text and Theory EDWARD H. FRIEDMAN	189
Notes on Contributors	204
Index	209