

Contents

Introduction	1
0.1 Historical background.....	1
0.2 Register of sources used.....	3
0.3 Previous research	7
0.4 The guiding principles of this present work.....	9
0.5 Method of approach	9
0.6 The contribution of this monograph.....	10
0.7 Editorial apparatus	10
1 Orthography, phonetics and phonology	13
1.0 Introduction.....	13
1.1 The syllabar.....	13
1.2 The means of indicating the plural and the use of plural determinatives....	27
1.3 The gloss and its markers.....	28
1.4 Complements	29
1.4.1 Phonetic complements	29
1.4.2 Semantic complements	29
1.5 The sources of the syllabary	30
1.6 Morphophonemic orthographies.....	31
1.7 The guttural consonants, the hiatus and the signs for alef	32
1.8 Consonantal w	34
1.9 Consonantal y	35
1.10 resh and pe in transcriptions of Egyptian names	36
1.11 Mimation.....	36
1.12 Orthography of the stops.....	37
1.13 Orthography of the sibilants s , z , ṣ	40
1.14 Concerning the problem of interchange of s and ṣ	41
1.15 The shift š > l	42
1.16 Gemination of consonants.....	42
1.17 Dissimilation	43
1.18 Plene writing of long vowels	44
1.19 Concerning the problem of e and i	48
2 Morphosyntax	51
2.1 Pronouns	51
2.1.1 Personal pronouns.....	51
2.1.1.1 Independent personal pronouns in the nominative.....	51
2.1.1.2 Documented dative pronouns.....	52
2.1.1.3 Possessive (genitive) suffixes	52

2.1.1.4	Possessive suffixes attached to nouns	52
2.1.1.5	Vowels between the noun and the possessive suffix.....	54
2.1.1.6	Accusative suffixes attached to verbs	55
2.1.1.7	The dative pronominal suffixes attached to the verb	56
2.1.2	Demonstrative pronouns	57
2.1.2.1	Near demonstratives.....	57
2.1.2.2	Distant demonstratives	59
2.1.3	The relative pronoun.....	60
2.1.4	Interrogative pronouns.....	60
2.1.5	Indefinite pronouns.....	61
2.1.6	Quantifiers	62
2.2	Numerals.....	63
2.2.0	General description.....	63
2.2.1	Cardinal numbers.....	64
2.2.2	Units of measure	65
2.2.3	Units.....	65
2.2.4	Multiplicatives	65
2.2.5	The Ordinal number.....	66
2.2.6	Dual independent pronouns	66
2.2.7	The syntax of the numerals.....	66
2.3	The Noun	67
2.3.1	The Substantive.....	67
2.3.1.0	General description	67
2.3.1.1	Status absolutus.....	67
2.3.1.2	Status rectus	67
2.3.1.3	Status constructus.....	70
2.3.1.4	The case of a substantive after the particle umma	71
2.3.1.5	Personal names.....	71
2.3.2	Grammatical gender.....	72
2.3.2.1	General description	72
2.3.2.2	Feminine singular substantives	78
2.3.2.3	Declension of substantives in masculine and feminine plural	81
2.3.3	Adjectives	85
2.4	The verb.....	88
2.4.1	Person markers.....	88
2.4.1.1	Person markers in the prefix conjugation.....	88
2.4.1.2	Verbal suffixes	90
2.4.2	Verbal conjugation.....	90
2.4.2.1	Group I — Middle Babylonian conjugation.....	90
2.4.2.2	Group II — Forms inflected as in Assyrian	91
2.4.2.3	Group III — Aberrations from the normal morphology and errors in stem, person, number and gender.....	92
2.4.2.3.1	Aberrations from the norm	92

2.4.2.3.2	Errors in the conjugation of stem, person, number or gender	95
2.4.3	The tense system	96
2.4.3.1	The Preterite and the Perfect	96
2.4.3.2	Present	98
2.4.3.3	The Stative	99
2.4.3.4	The tenses in conditional sentences	102
2.4.3.5	The Imperative	103
2.4.3.6	The Precative	104
2.4.4	Infinitives	105
2.4.5	Negative verbal expressions	106
2.4.5.1	The use of lā	106
2.4.5.2	The use of ul	107
2.4.5.3	Summary of negative clauses	108
2.4.6	The verbal stems	109
2.4.6.0	General description	109
2.4.6.1	G stem	109
2.4.6.2	Gt stem	110
2.4.6.3	Gtn stem	110
2.4.6.4	D stem	110
2.4.6.5	Dt stem	111
2.4.6.6	Š stem	111
2.4.6.7	N stem	111
2.4.7	Weak verbs	111
2.4.7.1	Verbs first aleph	111
2.4.7.2	Verbs second aleph	113
2.4.7.3	First nun	113
2.4.7.4	Verbs with initial waw	114
2.4.7.5	Middle weak verbs	114
2.4.7.6	Third aleph verbs	114
2.4.7.7	Third yod	115
2.4.7.8	Verbs with identical second and third radical	115
2.4.7.9	Middle aleph and final yod	116
2.4.7.10	First waw and third aleph	116
2.4.7.11	The irregular verb izuzzu	116
2.4.7.12	Quadrilateral verb	116
2.4.8	The Ventive	116
2.4.9	The subjunctive	118
2.5	Prepositions	120
2.6	Adverbs	128
2.6.1	Locative adverbs	128
2.6.2	Temporal adverbs	129
2.6.2.1	Interrogative adverbial particle	129
2.6.2.2	Temporal adverbs	129

2.6.2.3	Temporal expressions.....	129
2.6.3	Modal adverbs.....	131
2.6.3.1	Interrogative adverb	131
2.6.3.2	Modal expressions.....	131
2.6.4	Circumstantial adverbs	135
2.6.4.1	Interrogative circumstantial adverbs	135
2.6.5	Quantitative adverbs	135
2.6.6	An adverb of unknown meaning.....	135
2.6.7	Adverbial accusatives	135
2.7	lū , the particle of wish, request or desire	136
2.8	Negative particles	137
2.9	Presentation particles	138
2.10	The conditional particle šumma	140
2.10.1	šumma in conditional clauses.....	140
2.10.2	šumma as an interrogative particle.....	141
2.11	Particles for conjunction, subordination and emphasis.....	141
2.12	Subordinating particles	146
3	Syntax	149
3.0	Introduction.....	149
3.1.1	Components of the clause.....	149
3.1.1.0	Complements to the substantive.....	150
3.1.1.1	The complement to a substantive is an adjective	150
3.1.1.2	The complement to a substantive is a demonstrative pronoun	150
3.1.1.3	The complement to a substantive is an adverbial phrase	150
3.1.1.4	The complement to a substantive is an expression of possession	150
3.1.1.5	The clause as complement to a substantive.....	151
3.1.2	Attribution.....	151
3.1.2.0	General description	151
3.1.2.1	Attributive to the subject of a clause	151
3.1.2.2	Attributive to the direct object	152
3.1.2.3	Attributive to an indirect object	152
3.1.2.4	Attribute to a locative adverb.....	153
3.1.3	Agreement between the verb and its subject.....	153
3.1.4	Indeterminate subject.....	153
3.1.5	Vocative.....	154
3.2	Complements to the nexus (adverbial).....	154
3.2.1	Word order in the clause.....	155
3.2.2	The place of the infinitive in the clause and its functions.....	158
3.2.2.0	General description	158
3.2.2.1	The infinitive as an expression of purpose.....	159
3.2.2.2	The sentence as purpose in causative clauses	162

3.2.2.3	The infinitive as direct object.....	163
3.2.3	Clauses with extraposition.....	163
3.2.4	Interrogative sentences.....	164
3.2.4.0	General description.....	164
3.2.4.1	Questions related to the nexus.....	164
3.2.4.2	Adverbial questions.....	165
3.2.4.3	Questions of identification (personal and impersonal).....	166
3.3	Simple, compound and complex sentences.....	166
3.3.1	Non-verbal clauses, general description.....	166
3.3.1.1	Nominal clauses.....	166
3.3.1.2	Clauses with an adverbial predicate.....	168
3.3.1.3	Existential sentences, positive and negative.....	169
3.3.1.4	Clauses of possession.....	169
3.3.2	The verbal clause.....	169
3.3.3	Compound sentences.....	170
3.3.4	Complex sentences.....	170
3.3.4.1	Nominalized clauses.....	170
3.3.4.2	Adverbial clauses.....	173
3.3.4.3	Conditional sentences.....	175
3.4	Idioms and expressions.....	176
3.5	Complements governed and not governed.....	179
4	Index of proper names.....	189
4.0	Introduction.....	189
4.1	Egyptian personal names.....	189
4.2	West Semitic names.....	192
4.3	Name of the Cassite king.....	193
4.4	An Indo-Aryan name.....	193
4.5	Hittite names.....	193
4.6	Divine names.....	194
4.7	Geographical names.....	194
5	Summary.....	197
5.0	Introduction.....	197
5.1	Influence from Peripheral Akkadian.....	197
5.2	Other dialects.....	199
5.3	West Semitic influence (Cochavi-Rainey 1988).....	201
5.4	Egyptian influence (Cochavi-Rainey 1990).....	207
5.5	Unique phenomena.....	210
5.5.1	Orthography and phonetics.....	211
5.5.2	Morphosyntax — pronouns.....	211
5.5.3	Morphosyntax — the verbal system.....	211
5.5.4	Morphosyntax — the adverb.....	212
5.5.5	The negative particles.....	212

5.5.6 The conjunction	213
5.5.7 Syntax	213
Appendix I: Style and syntax of EA 1	215
Appendix II: EA 14 — edition and grammatical notes	227
Appendix III: Egyptian vocabulary in cuneiform	249
References	263
Indices	279