

The Library of New Testament Studies (LNTS) is a premier book series that offers cutting-edge work for a readership of scholars, teachers in the field of New Testament studies, postgraduate students and advanced undergraduates. All the many and diverse aspects of New Testament study are represented and promoted, including innovative work from historical perspectives, studies using social-scientific and literary theory, and developing theological, cultural and contextual approaches.

CHRISTOLOGY, HERMENEUTICS, AND HEBREWS

This ground-breaking volume moves study of Hebrews away from the perennial arguments about its authorship and provenance and, instead, engages with it from a theological perspective, focusing upon the text's reception history. Consequently the issue of the Christological message in Hebrews is at the forefront and is considered in terms of both the interpreter's context and earlier historical settings.

Beginning with Patristic responses to Hebrews, the book goes on to examine the responses of Thomas Aquinas, Martin Luther and John Calvin as well as more recent figures such as Karl Barth. At the end of the book the investigations are summarised and responded to by three leading scholars – Harold Attridge, Donald Hagner and Kathryn Greene-McCreigh providing a fitting conclusion to a radical academic project.
