

Contents

Foreword	v
Part I – Construction of the other in the European missionary discourse
Konstruktionen lutherisch-syrischer Gemeinsamkeiten in der Frühphase lutherischer Mission in Indien Martin Tamcke	1
‘Think on these things’: The reading subject in 19 th century missions Bill Bell	13
Comparison and contrast: Searching for identities in the early Indo-German mission encounter Heike Liebau	25
Racial stereotypes in the construction of the other and the identification of the self: the Basel Mission and its industries in India ca. 1884 Catherine Stenzl	43
Did LMS women missionaries ‘save’ native women? Triple colonization of Travancore Bible women in the 19 th century Jayachitra Lalitha	55
Part II – Identification of the Indian self
Negotiating borders and bridges: Indian Biblewomen in the Hermannsburg Mission Gladson Jathanna	67

- Religion, culture & expression of identity:
 explorations of subversion by Indian women
 through literature 75
Swati Shirwadkar
- „Wie kann durch die Vereinigung von Kirchen
 aus England, Schottland, Schweden und den USA
 eine indische Kirche entstehen?“ Zu den Diskussionen um die Kirchenunion in Südindien, 1919–1947 85
Frieder Ludwig
- Söldneraufstand, Unabhängigkeitskrieg oder Religionskrieg?
 Geschichtsschreibung am Beispiel des indischen Aufstandes
 gegen die britische Kolonialmacht im Jahr 1857 121
Andreas Gross
- Christian mission and cosmopolitanism:
 the case of Ishwari Dass 139
Arun W. Jones
- Construction of the self and the other:
 Dalit Christians in South Andhra, India, 1865–1945 159
Satyanarayana Adapa
- Transnational interpretation of yoga practice.
 Comparative analysis between German and Indian yoga institutes 177
Andrea Ágota Telegdi
- Pietismus, Hinduismus und Interreligiöser Dialog in ausgewählten Schriften von Channappa Uttangi 215
Eva-Maria Klassen

Part III – Theological appraisal of interculturality

Contextual theologies and missionary representation: The impact of the emerging Dalit theology on the Evangelical Lutheran Mission in Lower Saxony, Germany Bernhard Ortmann	275
The challenge of being a Christian in a multi-religious and secular society Hubert Manohar Watson	345
Visibility of the invisible: Status and role of women in church mission and ministry Rajula Annie Watson	365
Two basic approaches to Christian-Hindu dialogue – and a question Hugald Grafe	375
Contributors	381