

Firsthand accounts of thoughtful Christians that offer a wealth of insight into conversions

Journeys of Faith explores the theological migrations taking place within the church today. Four prominent converts to Eastern Orthodoxy, Catholicism, Evangelicalism, and Anglicanism describe their new faith traditions and their spiritual journeys into them. Response chapters offer civil critiques of the biblical and theological faithfulness of the adopted tradition, as well as a brief rejoinder from that tradition's proponent.

Contributors and their respondents are:

- Wilbur Ellsworth (Eastern Orthodoxy); Craig Blaising
- Francis J. Beckwith (Catholicism); Gregg Allison
- Chris Castaldo (Evangelicalism); Brad S. Gregory
- Lyle W. Dorsett (Anglicanism); Robert A. Peterson

Praise for Journeys of Faith

“If you have ever wondered, ‘Why in the world would someone become that type of Christian?’ this book provides the answer.”

—Bryan M. Litfin, Professor of Theology, Moody Bible Institute

“This is ecumenism at its best!”

—Timothy George, Dean and Professor of Divinity, Beeson Divinity School

“For a subject that regularly generates considerable heat, this is a book full of the best kind of light.”

—Mark A. Noll, author of Protestantism: A Very Short Introduction

“This book has reawakened for me the reality of how many are responding to stories of migration from Evangelicalism.”

—from the foreword by Scot McKnight, author of The King Jesus Gospel
