

CONTENTS

List of illustrations—page vii

List of contributors—page ix

Founding editor's introduction—page xiii

Acknowledgements—page xvi

- 1 Beyond national memory. Nora's Lieux de Mémoire across an imperial world
Dominik Geppert and Frank Lorenz Müller 1

- Part I – Monuments 19

- 2 Transmissible sites: monuments, memorials and their visibility on the metropole and periphery
Xavier Guégan 21

- 3 Politics, caste and the remembrance of the Raj: the Obelisk at Koregaon
Shraddha Kumbhojkar 39

- 4 The thirteen martyrs of Arad: a monumental Hungarian history
James Koranyi 53

- 5 Heroes, victims and the quest for peace: war monuments and the contradictions of Japan's post-imperial commemoration
Barak Kushner 70

- Part II – Heroes and villains 93

- 6 From the penny press to the plinth: British and French 'heroic imperialists' as sites of memory
Berny Sèbe 95

- 7 Jan Pietersz Coen: a man they love to hate. The first Governor General of the Dutch East Indies as an imperial site of memory
Victor Enthoven 115

- 8 The memory of Lord Clive in Britain and beyond: imperial hero and villain
Richard Goebelt 136

CONTENTS

9	David Livingstone, British Protestant missions, memory and empire John Stuart	153
10	Freedom fighter and anti-Tsarist rebel: Imam Shamil and imperial memory in Russia Stefan Creuzberger	170
Part III – Remembering and forgetting		185
11	From Nehruvian neglect to Bollywood heroes: the memory of the Raj in post-war India Maria Misra	187
12	‘Forgive and forget’? The Mau Mau uprising in Kenyan collective memory Winfried Speitkamp	207
13	Exploration and exploitation: German colonial botany at the Botanic Garden and Botanical Museum Berlin Katja Kaiser	225
14	Recollections of rubber Frank Uekötter	243

Select bibliography—266

Index—274