

Contents

Part I Perspectives on the History of Energy and the Environment in Japan, China and Britain

- 1 From Firewood to Coal: Deforestation and the Development of the Silk Reeling Industry in Modern Japan 3
S. Sugiyama and Izumi Yamada
- 2 The Government Railways and the Procurement of Railway Sleepers in Prewar Japan 31
Asuka Yamaguchi
- 3 The History of Ecological Environment: Ideas Derived from Chinese Research 69
Makoto Ueda
- 4 The Problem of Air Pollution During the Industrial Revolution: A Reconsideration of the Enactment of the Smoke Nuisance Abatement Act of 1821 85
Masahiko Akatsu

Part II Book Reviews

- 5 Review of Seiichi Andō, Kinsei Kōgaishi no Kenkyū (The History of Environmental Pollution in Early Modern Japan) 113
Yuko Okada
- 6 Review of Takeo Kikkawa, Nihon Denryokugyō Hatten no Dainamizumu (Dynamism in the Development of Japan's Electric Power Industry) 117
Ryoshin Minami

- 7 Review of Yoshihiro Ogino (ed.) Kindai Nihon no Enerugī to Kigyō Katsudō: Hokubu Kyūshū Chiiki o Chūshin to Shite (Energy and Corporate Activities in Modern Japan: The Case of Northern Kyūshū) 123
Naoki Tanaka
- 8 Review of J. R. McNeill, Something New Under the Sun: An Environmental History of the Twentieth-Century World (20 Seiki Kankyō Shi. Translated by Masatomo Umitsu and Tsunetoshi Mizoguchi) 127
Shoko Mizuno
- Index 133