

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Introduction	1

Part I

1	French Censorship on the Eve of the Revolution Simon Burrows	13
2	Not Guilty: Negative Capability and the Trials of William Hone Clara Tuite	33
3	The Gender of Censorship: John Wilson Croker, Mary Hays and the Aftermath of the Queen Caroline Affair Mary Spongberg	49
4	'The Chastity of our Records': Reading and Judging Obscenity in Nineteenth-Century Courts Karen Crawley	65

Part II

5	Controlling Ideas and Controlling People: Libel, Surveillance, Banishment and Indigenous Literary Expression in the Dutch East Indies Paul Tickell	81
6	Teaching Librarians to be Censors: Library Education for Francophones in Quebec, 1937–61 Geoffrey Little	93
7	Surrealism to Pulp: The Limits of the Literary and Australian Customs Nicole Moore	105
8	'That Monstrous Thing': The Critic as Censor in Apartheid South Africa Peter D. McDonald	119

Part III

9	Diabolical Evasion of the Censor in Mikhail Bulgakov's The Master and Margarita Ilona Urquhart	133
10	Reading the Enemy: East German Censorship across the Wall Christina Spittel	147

11	Wild Spiders Crying Together: Confessional Poetry, Censorship and the Cold War Tyne Daile Summer	161
12	Freedom to Read: Barney Rosset, Henry Miller and the End of Obscenity Loren Glass	177
Part IV
13	Out of the Shadows: The Emergence of Overt Gay Narratives in Australia Jeremy Fisher	191
14	Silenced Lives: Censorship and the Rise of Diasporic Iranian Women's Memoirs in English Sanaz Fotouhi	205
15	Egypt's Facebook Revolution: Arab Diaspora Literature and Censorship in the Homeland Jumana Bayeh	219
16	China's Elusive Truths: Censorship, Value and Literature in the Internet Age Lynda Ng	233
	Contributors	247
	Index	251