

Contents

List of Illustrations	viii
Acknowledgement	ix
Introduction	1
Part I Loss and Reaffirmation
1 Pluralism as the End of Art?	17
2 Rupture and the Relevance of Beauty	43
3 Beauty and Pliant Consciousness, Individuality, Visible Permission	63
Part II Art Practices and the Value of Perceptible Presence
4 Art from a Wittgensteinian Perspective: Constitutive Norms in Context	97
5 Art Practices and Perceptual Engagement: We Can't Get Enough	149
6 Beauty as the Value of Perceptible Presence	189
Conclusion: Beauty and the End of Art	233
Bibliography	242
Index	251