

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
List of Contributors	x
Acknowledgements	xiv
List of Abbreviations	xvi
Introduction: Home Fronts and the Empire at War Mark J. Crowley and Sandra Trudgen Dawson	1
Part One: Consumption on the Home Front
1 British Restaurants and the Gender Politics of the Wartime Midday Meal Nadja Durbach	19
2 A Nutritional Economy: The Calorie, Development and War in Mandate Palestine Sherene Seikaly	37
3 Rubber Shortages on Britain's Home Front Sandra Trudgen Dawson	59
4 Nation-Building and Nationalism in Bengali Children's Literature during the 1940s and 1950s Nupur Chaudhuri	76
Part Two: The Militarized Home Front
5 'Young blood' and 'the blackout': Love, Sex and Marriage on the South African Home Front Jean P. Smith	93
6 Ceylon's Home Front during the Second World War Ashley Jackson	111

viii CONTENTS

7	Nyanza at War: Kenya and the Mobilization of Britain's Colonial Empire Andrew Stewart	130
8	'Fighting In Their Ways'? The Civilian Man in British Culture, 1939-1945 Linsey Robb	146
Part Three: Technology, Danger and Waste on the Home Front
9	'The Royal Mail will always get through': Maintaining Communications on the Home and Military Front during the Second World War Mark J. Crowley	167
10	'National Necessity' and 'Patriotic Duty': Railway Publicity in World War II India Ritika Prasad	185
11	Removing Danger: The Making of 'dangerous internees' in Australia Christine Winter	206
12	Bombs and Recycling Drives: The Double Threat to Books and Documents in Wartime Britain Peter Thorsheim	224
	Select Bibliography	242
	Index	258