

Table of contents

List of figures	vii
Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction: sensing the sacred	1
ROBIN MACDONALD, EMILIE K. M. MURPHY, AND ELIZABETH L. SWANN
PART I
Prescription and practice	17
1 Problems of sensory history and the medieval laity	19
JOHN H. ARNOLD
2 Virtus regens animam: William Peraldus on guiding the pleasures of the senses	39
RICHARD NEWHAUSER
3 What makes things holy? The senses and material culture in the later Middle Ages	60
C. M. WOOLGAR
PART II
Concord and conversion	79
4 Double conversion: the sensory autobiography of Sir Kenelm Digby	81
JOE MOSHENSKA
5 The senses and the seventeenth-century English conversion narrative	99
ABIGAIL SHINN

vi Table of contents

PART III

Exile and encounter 117

- 6 Hearing exile and homecoming in the Dutch Stranger church 119

ERIN LAMBERT

- 7 A sense of place: hearing English Catholicism in the Spanish Habsburg territories, 1568–1659 136

EMILIE K. M. MURPHY

- 8 Sensing sacred missives: birch bark letters from seventeenth-century missions in New France 158

ROBIN MACDONALD

PART IV

Figuration and feeling 181

- 9 “O, she’s warm”: evidence, assent, and the sensory numinous in Shakespeare and his world 183

SUBHA MUKHERJI

- 10 Robert Southwell’s intimate exegesis 202

BRONWYN V. WALLACE

- 11 God’s nostrils: the divine senses in early modern England 220

ELIZABETH L. SWANN

- Afterword: making sense of religion 245

MICHAEL SCHOENFELDT

- Index* 251