The Year Ahead, and the Year in Review

SUE GARDNER

WIKIMANIA – WASHINGTON DC – 14 JULY 2012

Purpose of this presentation is two things:

- Tell you what the WMF did in 2011-12
- Tell you what the WMF plans to do in 2012-13

34.8 million dollars

You wrote the projects.
You earned the goodwill.
Your work is what donors are supporting.

Recapping 2011-12

Recapping 2011-12 Activities

- Supported 25% increase in readership from 400 to 500 million UVs;
- Visual Editor – released with save/edit capability & new parser, in restricted namespace on Mediawiki.org;
- Global Ed work is being done in 12 countries, and in eight the work is driven by volunteers – 19 million characters added to Wikipedia, with 50% female editors;
- The mobile platform has been redeveloped, Android app released, mobile PVs up 187%. Wikipedia Zero launched with new deals with two companies covering 28 countries, and more underway;
- Editor recruitment activity is underway in India and Brazil;
- Wikimedia Labs is launched and exceeding participation targets;
- Internationalization team has made significant improvements, particularly for Indic languages. It has also created new translation tools;
- New editor engagement – MoodBar/Feedback Dashboard, AFTv5, New Pages Feed tool, plus many research projects and small experiments (e.g., warnings & welcoming study, lapsed editor e-mail experiment, Teahouse). Nonetheless, editors are down to 85 from 89K;
- Upload wizard increased image uploads 27% over the year, with WLM causing a visible spike in September 2011.

Strategy Plan 2015 Goals

(for reference)

- 1) Increase readership.
- 2) Increase the quantity of material we offer.
- 3) Increase quality.
- 4) Increase participation (number of editors).
- 5) Broaden editor diversity. (women, and Global South editors)

Five reasons why active editors are in decline..

it's all HTML code and i don't understand that ???

Confused ▶ Respond to this

- Poor usability
- Lack of discoverability
- Warnings & reversions
- Lack of support & coaching
- Policy cruft & complexity

SolieLInitiative (talk | contribs | block)

I need something to work on.

It has a lot of Rules and it consumes alot of time to become familiar with it :) (Although wikipedia needs these rules :))

What will fix the problem?

The wizard is good, maybe a ScreenCast (movie) that actually walks through and narrates the mental steps would be even better.

- Better usability
- Better discoverability – notifications/alerts/messaging
- Kinder reversions with positive feedback
- More expressions of love & support
- Policy simplification

Jaembree (talk | contribs)

With a little help from another editor, I feel much more confident.

The WMF must do this

- Better usability
- Better discoverability – notifications/alerts/messaging
- Kinder reversions with positive feedback
- More expressions of love & support
- Policy simplification

You can do this!

2012-13 Plan Overview

The 2012-13 plan continues our focus on solving editor retention, mostly by adding engineering resources to priority projects:

- Visual Editor – limited enWP launch by December 2012, ready for default use by July;
 - Editor Engagement projects – notifications, alerts, messaging;
 - Editor experimentation – 15 experiments, with the most successful productized through the year.
- Wikimedia Labs – toolserver-style DB replication and access to analytics datasets
 - India, Brazil, MENA
 - Grants and Fellowships
 - Global Education project
 - Mobile photo uploading & mobile contributions, better multimedia usability
 - More Wikipedia Zero partnerships
 - Better site performance and responsiveness – reduce response time, reduce rendering time

Also in 2012-13, we will launch the Funds Dissemination Committee (FDC), a volunteer-driven body designed to support the WMF in giving out money enabling Wikimedia entities to do important programmatic work.

One last slide...

“On a 0-10 scale, with 0 being NOT AT ALL GOOD and 10 being EXTREMELY GOOD, how would you rate the performance of each in contributing to the Wikimedia movement?”

THANK YOU
