PART IIDATA PROTECTION PRINCIPLES*Principles relating to processing of personal data

- 4.(1) Personal data shall be
- (a) processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject;
 - (b) collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes;

- (c) adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed;
 - (d) accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date and every reasonable step shall be taken to ensure that personal data that is inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay;
 - (e) kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data is processed; and
 - (f) processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.
- (2) A data controller shall, in relation to all of the personal data he processes, comply with the requirements set out in subsection (1).
- (3) A data controller may specify the purpose for which personal data is obtained pursuant to subsection 1(b)
- (a) in any notice given for the purposes of section 5(3)(a) by the data controller to the data subject; or
 - (b) in a notification given to the Commissioner pursuant to Part III.
- (4) In determining whether any disclosure of personal data is compatible with the purpose for which the data is obtained in accordance with subsection 1(b), regard is to be had to the purpose for which the personal data is intended to be processed by any person to whom the data is disclosed.

- (5) Subsection 1(d) is not contravened by reason of any inaccuracy in personal data which accurately record information obtained by the data controller from the data subject or a third party in a case where
- (a) having regard to the purpose for which the data was obtained and further processed, the data controller has taken reasonable steps to ensure the accuracy of the data; and
 - (b) the data subject has notified the data controller of the data subject's view that the data is inaccurate and the data indicates that fact.
- (6) Pursuant to subsection 1(f), having regard to the state of technological development and the cost of implementing any measures, the measures must ensure a level of security appropriate to
- (a) the harm that might result from such unauthorised or unlawful processing or accidental loss, destruction or damage; and
 - (b) the nature of the data to be protected.
- (7) The data controller shall take reasonable steps to ensure that his employees who have access to the personal data comply with the requirements set out in subsection (1).
- (8) Pursuant to subsection 1(f), where processing of personal data is carried out by a data processor on behalf of a data controller, the data controller shall
- (a) choose a data processor who provides sufficient guarantees in respect of the technical and organisational security measures governing the processing to be carried out; and
 - (b) take reasonable steps to ensure compliance with the measures referred to in paragraph (a).

(9) Where processing of personal data is carried out by a data processor on behalf of a data controller, the data controller is not to be regarded as complying with subsection 1(f) unless

- (a) the processing is carried out under a contract
 - (i) which is made or evidenced in writing; and

(2) Subject to subsection (3), personal data is to be treated as having been obtained fairly if the personal data consists of information obtained from a person who is

- (a) authorised by or under any enactment to supply the data; or
 - (b) required to supply by the data any convention or other instrument imposing an international obligation on Barbados.

- (3) Personal data is not to be treated as processed fairly unless
- (a) in the case of data obtained from the data subject, the data controller ensures so far as practicable that the data subject has, is provided with, or has readily available to him, the following information:
 - (i) the identity of the data controller;
 - (ii) where a data controller has nominated a representative for the purposes of this Act, the identity of that representative;
 - (iii) the purpose or purposes for which the data is intended to be processed; and
 - (iv) any further information which is necessary, having regard to the specific circumstances in which the data is or is to be processed, to enable processing in respect of the data subject to be fair; and
 - (b) in any other case, the data controller ensures so far as practicable that, before the relevant time or as soon as practicable after that time, the data subject is provided with, or has readily available to him, the information specified in subparagraphs (i) to (iv) of paragraph (a).
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3)(b), “the relevant time” means
- (a) the time when the data controller first processes the data; or
 - (b) in a case where at that time disclosure to a third party within a reasonable period is envisaged,
 - (i) if the data is in fact disclosed to such a person within that period, the time when the data is first disclosed;
 - (ii) if within that period the data controller becomes, or ought to become aware that the data is unlikely to be disclosed to such a person within that period, the time when the data controller does become, or ought to become, so aware; or
 - (iii) in any other case, the end of that period.

Lawfulness of processing

 - (x) processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the data controller or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject which require protection of personal data, in particular where the data subject is a child.

(2) Subsection (1)(b)(x) shall not apply to processing carried out by public authorities in the performance of their tasks.

Conditions for consent

(3) A data subject has the right to withdraw his consent in respect of the processing of his personal data at any time and the data controller shall inform the data subject of his right to withdraw prior to him giving consent to the data controller to process his personal data.

(4) The withdrawal of consent by the data subject shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

(5) In determining whether consent is freely given, the data controller shall take into account whether the performance of a contract, including the provision of a service, is conditional on consent to the processing of personal data that is not necessary for the performance of that contract.

Conditions applicable to child's consent

8.(1) The processing of a child's personal data shall be lawful only where and to the extent that consent is given or authorised by the parent or guardian of the child.

(2) The data controller shall make reasonable efforts to verify in such cases that consent is given or authorised by the parent or guardian of a child, taking into consideration available technology.

(3) Subsection (1) shall not affect contract law under any enactment in respect of the validity, formation or effect of a contract in relation to a child.

Processing of sensitive personal data

9.(1) Processing of sensitive personal data shall be prohibited unless

- (a) the data subject gives his consent to the processing;
- (b) the processing is necessary for the purposes of exercising or performing any right or obligation which is conferred or imposed by law on the data controller in connection with employment;
- (c) the processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of the data subject or another person, in a case where

- (d) the processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of another person, in a case where consent by or on behalf of the data subject has been unreasonably withheld;

 - (i) is carried out in the course of its legitimate activities by any body or association which
 - (A) is not established or conducted for profit; and
 - (B) exists for political, philosophical, religious or trade union purposes;
 - (ii) is carried out with appropriate safeguards for the rights and freedoms of data subjects;
 - (iii) relates only to individuals who either are members of the body or association or have regular contact with it in connection with its purposes; and

- (iv) does not involve disclosure of the personal data to a third party without the consent of the data subject;
 - (f) the information contained in the personal data has been made public as a result of steps deliberately taken by the data subject;
 - (g) the processing is necessary
 - (i) for the purpose of, or in connection with, any legal proceedings including prospective legal proceedings;
 - (ii) for the purpose of obtaining legal advice; or

 - (k) the processing is necessary for the exercise of any functions of a public authority;
 - (l) the processing is necessary for medical purposes and is undertaken by
 - (i) a health care professional; or
 - (ii) a person who in the circumstances owes a duty of confidentiality which is equivalent to that which would arise if that person were a health care professional;
 - (m) the processing
 - (i) is of sensitive personal data consisting of information as to racial or ethnic origin; and
 - (ii) is necessary for the purpose of identifying or keeping under review, the existence or absence of equality of opportunity or

treatment between persons of different racial or ethnic origins, with a view to enabling such equality to be promoted or maintained; and

(iii) is carried out with appropriate safeguards for the rights and freedoms of data subjects.

(2) The Minister may by order specify circumstances other than those identified in subsection (1) where sensitive personal data may be processed.

(3) An order made pursuant to subsection (2) is subject to negative resolution.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (1)(l) “medical purposes” includes the purposes of preventative medicine, medical diagnosis, medical research, the provision of care and treatment and the management of health care services.

Right to prevent processing likely to cause damage or distress

- 16.(1) Subject to subsection (2), a data subject is entitled, by a written notice, to require the data controller at the end of a 21 day period to cease, or not to begin, processing, or processing for a specified purpose or in a specified manner, any personal data in respect of which he is the data subject, on the ground that
- (a) the processing of the data or the data controller's processing for that purpose or in that manner is causing or is likely to cause substantial damage or distress to the data subject or another; and
 - (b) the damage or distress is or would be unwarranted.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply
