

Message for 2020 International Day of Biological Diversity - Shumei International

In the midst of the Coronavirus Pandemic, it is more important than ever to recognize the importance of biodiversity and its interconnection to the health of the planet and human beings. The global community is witnessing the multiple consequences of the destruction of ecosystems, which has caused the extinction of many animal and plant species and also accelerated the transmission of coronaviruses from animals to humans. As we commemorate the International Day of Biological Diversity this year, may we join in a common quest to protect ecosystems and biodiversity with the same urgency we embrace to protect our health. Let us strengthen our commitment to respect nature and our interconnectedness to the Earth as a living ecosystem. The solutions to global issues are in Nature and Nature can teach us everything.
