The International Center Photography (ICP) is proud to present ¡Cuba, Cuba! at the Southampton Arts Center from August 15 through September 7, 2015. This important exhibition, which comes during the warming of U.S.-Cuba relations, includes more than 100 color and black-and-white photographs made from the 1950s to the present, featuring work by over 20 Cuban photographers such as icons Alberto Korda, Raúl Corrales, and Marucha, and American masters Burt Glinn and Elliott Erwitt. ¡Cuba, Cuba! also showcases never-before-seen images and a unique collection of historic artifacts, political posters, and publications.

From the decadent Havana nightlife of the 1950s to the 1959 Revolution and its iconic leaders, to everyday life in contemporary Cuba, this exhibition provides an exciting, multifaceted portrait of the country, exemplifying the richness of Cuban culture, the strength of its people, and the complexity of its political history. As diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States are being restored, ¡Cuba, Cuba! offers a unique view into the island Christopher Columbus described as “the most beautiful land that human eyes have ever seen.”

The vintage and contemporary works in the show are drawn mainly from ICP’s collection, the archive of the Center for Cuban Studies, the Lehigh University Art Galleries, and Vicki Gold Levi’s Cuban collections.

This exhibition is organized by the International Center of Photography, in collaboration with the Center for Cuban Studies collection, New York. It is made possible by support from Renee Harbers Liddell and Christopher Liddell. It is curated by Cuban art historian and Professor Iliana Cepero and ICP Curator Pauline Vermare.
