Description of the Proposed Method of Correction

The plan sponsor has contributed (or will contribute) additional amounts to the plan on behalf of each affected employee. For each affected employee, the corrective contribution will be determined by calculating the contribution the employee would have been entitled to receive under the terms of the plan and subtracting any contributions already made on behalf of the employee for the plan year. The corrective contribution made on behalf of an affected employee will be adjusted for earnings. Earnings will be calculated from the last day of the plan year for which the failure occurred through the date of the corrective contribution. The corrective contribution (adjusted for earnings) will be made to each affected employee's SIMPLE IRA. If an affected employee does not have a SIMPLE IRA, an account will be established for that employee.

If the plan did not provide eligible employees with the opportunity to make elective deferrals and the plan provides for matching contributions, the corrective matching contribution will be based on the assumption that the eligible employee would have made an elective deferral equal to 3% of compensation.

The total corrective contribution (before adjusting for earnings) for each plan year is

The plan sponsor has effected (or will effect) the return of excess employer contributions, adjusted for earnings through the date of correction, to the plan sponsor. The earnings adjustment will be based on the actual rates of return on the affected participants' SIMPLE IRAs from the date(s) that the excess employer contributions were made through the date of correction. The amount returned to the plan sponsor is not includible in the gross income of the affected participant(s). The plan sponsor is not entitled to a deduction for the excess employer contributions. The amount returned is reported on Form 1099-R as a distribution issued to the affected participant(s), indicating the taxable amount as zero.
