

Mirjana Rajilić-Stojanović

Transdisciplinary researcher and teacher; adaptable, systematic and motivated. Invited speaker on over 20 international scientific conferences with entrepreneur experience. Research interest includes development and application of high throughput molecular methods for studying gut microbiota; identification of associations between microbiota diversity and (intestinal) diseases; microbial taxonomy and systematics; development of functional foods (probiotics, prebiotics and natural antioxidants) and assessing their interaction with microbiota and health. Mother of four kids.